FRIENDS OF THE POLICE

Majority in Council Last Night Favored an Increase in the Force.

MASURIER ORDINANCE PASSED

Effort to Repeal the Alley Closing Proposition Defeated. Contract Measure Again.

The strength of the advocates and supporters of the movement for an increase in the membership of the police department was shown on a test vote in Council last night.

The question arose when the ordinance recommending an increase in the number of men, coming from the Finance Committee, was reported. The opponents of the increase showed their hand, and lost, although the ordinance itself was not passed, because it required a two-thirds vote, carrying as it did an appropriation. The actual vote, however, was nineteen in favor of the ordinance and six against it.

Those who opposed the ordinance last night did not do so, they said, because they were opposed to an increase, but they wished the ordinance increasing the pay of the policemen to be disposed of at the same time.

The Council adopted the Masurier ordinance, designed to debar city officers and employes from active political work, with but two dissenting voices. The only change was the time of its becoming a law. Councilman Masurier himself deferred the ordinance, fixing September 1st as the time.

The Zimmermann ordinance, requiring the Council's approval of all expenditures over $5,000, took a similar course. Only a little whiff of discord arose when the "alloy ordinance" was reported.

Mr. Pollock said he did not feel that the ordinance was invalid. "I don't think the Council can prescribe the qualifications of members of the fire and police boards," he said, "as these bodies are made up on the same plan as the City Council."

The Zimmermann "contract ordinance" passed without a ripple. It is designed to promote business-like methods in municipal contracts, and provides that all contracts for public works and supplies involving the expenditure of $5,000 or more shall not be effective without the approval of the Council.

Carried by Large Majority and Few Votes Cast in Favor. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 5.—The advocates of prohibition won in the city election to-day, and the city went dry by a majority of 465 votes. The total vote was 1,600 out of a total registered vote of 2,500.

CHARLOTTE GOES DRY. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CUMBERLAND, Va., July 5.—The stable, barn and carriage house of County Clerk J. H. Phipps were burned last night. The fire originated in the hay loft, and was discovered by some one passing. The horses were in the stable, but for the kindness of the night the residence would have gone also. THE FAST MAIL IN COLLISION. Only One of Train Crew Hurt and Engine and Freight Cars Damaged. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) DANVILLE, Va., July 5.—No. 97, the last mail of the Southern Railway, and the same train which leaped from the long trestle near this city last September, at which time eleven lives were lost, collided with a freight train Duffin, N. C., this afternoon, resulting in a serious injury to J. Q. Miller, of the mail train crew, who attempted to jump to safety, and who has been brought to this city for treatment.

Failure to make a coupling between two sections of the freight resulted in one of the sections running out on the main track just as No. 97 dashed around the curve on its southern run. The pilot end front of the engine was broken, a flat car was demolished and the body of a tool car splintered. The track was not damaged to any extent, and was soon cleared for the passage of trains.

The conductor of the freight had instructed his brakeman not to couple, but the brakeman misunderstood and attempted to couple, while the conductor was awaiting orders in the dispatchers' office. There were breaks set on the rear of the train. A wrecking train went out to the scene in the evening, and there were no other casualties beyond the injury to Miller.
